"Fallen Grandeur"

#1

Amidst decay of grandeur—
Mansion ruins whisper,
Beauty fragile in war's shadow.

📍 Moshchun,
Kyiv region.

📏 metal, 90x60

"Mother and Child. Gaze of Hope"

In ruins, a mother holds close—
Baby's gaze is beaming;
Young oak shoot.

📍 Moshchun,
Kyiv region.

📏 metal, 90x60

"His Only Companion"

#3

Little man and big dog,
Through silent remnants of home—
His only companion

📍 Kyiinka,
Chernihiv region.

📏 metal, 90x60

"Inked Memories"

#4

Amidst fallen walls,
Ink tells of lost yesterdays—
Will tomorrow be painted?

📍 Kyiinka,
Chernihiv region.

📏 metal, 90x60

"Hostomel`s Last Stand"

#5

Once a father, now a warrior –
Amid ruins, a silent roar;
Spirit unbroken.

📍 Hostomel,
Kyiv region.

📏 metal, 90x60

"Enduring Together"

#6

44 years their hands cling,
Among ruins, love's roots deepen—
Silence watches on.

📍 Hostomel,
Kyiv region.

📏 metal, 90x60

"Farewell to Childhood"

#7

Shattered room bears witness—
A young woman's gaze falls,
Childhood's echo fade

📍 Kyiinka,
Chernihiv region.

📏 metal, 90x60

“

Stolen Life is not just about loss—it is about the devastating reality of war, a force that strips people of everything and makes them equal in their suffering.

For us, this project is deeply personal. It is our way of shifting the meaning of "war" beyond weapons, strategy, and tactics—to something profoundly human: love, home, hope, family. It is about the impossible task of rebuilding a life when war has taken everything.

War has no place in the 21st century. Yet beautiful lives are lost, families torn apart. And still, they stand, they endure, they fight and they hope.
